Troop Support Subsistence Prime Vendor Program

A prime vendor agrees to provide customers a broad range of food-related items under either a standardized or customized catalog that contains a listing of items requested by the customers. Each prime vendor contract requires a level of supply availability (fill rate), provisions for surge support and provides price advantages and ordering efficiency for customers.

All contract dollar values are the best current estimates. For those original contracts that have expired, a "bridge contract" was awarded to sustain customer food support while new follow-on solicitations and proposal evaluations are underway.

The locations listed may include more than one supported activity — for instance, child development centers (CDCs) or youth centers — which are not always separately identified. All contract values shown here are the best current estimates, updated as of August 2019.
