DLA TROOP SUPPORT

DEFENSE LOGISTICS AGENCY

Troop Support Subsistence Prime Vendor Program

A prime vendor agrees with customers to provide a range of single-category items under either a standardized or customized catalog that describes particular offerings. Examples of product lines are food, food service equipment or produce. The prime vendor guarantees a particular level of supply availability and may also be required to provide a level of surge demand support.

A prime vendor contract provides price advantages and ordering efficiency for customers as well as stable demand for suppliers. The single distribution point aspect of prime vendors also simplifies the materiel distribution, receipt and storage processes, as a variety of similar items are routinely shipped together.

The Defense Logistics Agency Troop Support (DLA Troop Support), formerly known as Defense Supply Center Philadelphia, currently holds the same number (57) of main prime vendor contracts as well as dozens of supplementary contracts — or catalogs — tailored to particular customer requirements as in 2009.

There are currently 38 prime vendor contracts in effect to serve customers within the continental United States (CONUS), 14 contracts to serve customers outside the continental U.S. (OCONUS) and five contracts primarily to serve at-sea customers.

These prime vendor contracts are worth a total of more than $4.01 billion, an increase of 22 percent from fiscal 2008. Total annual subsistence sales in fiscal 2009 exceeded $4.74 billion versus $4.47 billion in fiscal 2008. These figures are at standard unit price.

All contract values are the best current estimates. For those original contracts that have expired, all are "bridged" with extensions to sustain food services while new-contract solicitations and response evaluations are underway.

DLA TROOP SUPPORT SUBSISTENCE PRIME VENDOR PROGRAM

Note: Many of the prime vendors listed here hold multiple contracts, generally known as 'catalogs,' often with variations in offerings, covering food products and produce separately, in the areas and for the bases and facilities enumerated. This directory shows only the first contract number for each vendor. The locations listed may include more than one supported activity — for instance, child development centers (CDCs) or youth centers — which are not always separately identified. All contract values shown here are the best current estimates.

JOINT SERVICES PRIME VENDORS

Joint Services Prime Vendor Program

The Joint Services Prime Vendor Program (JSPVP) currently has 32 contracts with foodservice distributors that provide food and food-related products to more than 900 nonappropriated-fund (NAF) activities within the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and other locations, such as the U.S. Military Academy Cadet Mess and the U.S. Naval Academy Midshipmen's Mess. Participants in the program achieve cost savings through contract pricing, rebates and reduced overhead expenses associated with searching for, ordering and receiving products from multiple vendors. In fiscal 2009 customers purchased $140 million off JSPVP contracts and saved more than $20 million through contract savings, rebates and off-invoice discounts.

The following is a list of JSPVP participants, including Morale, Welfare and Recreation (MWR) and Exchange foodservice outlets:

92 Army Installations
76 Navy Installations
17 Navy Exchange units
20 Navy Lodges

23 Marine Corps Installations
